

Save the Date: December 6 2018

Multidisciplinary Provincial Conference: featuring experts with an evidenced-based focus on

Spinal Cord Injury (SCI) is a specialty practice and many health care professionals as well as the SCI population will benefit from attending the upcoming evidence-based conference in beautiful Saskatoon: ASHER Auditorium, Saskatoon City Hospital (SCH), Thursday December 6 2018.

'Spinal Cord Injury: Advancing the Care and Independence of People following Spinal Cord Injury (SCI) is a one-day Multidisciplinary Conference that will offer multidisciplinary health care providers from across the province an opportunity to increase their specialized knowledge and skills regarding Spinal Cord Injury (SCI) throughout the continuum from acute injury to the community. As well as personal care, pharmacological, urological treatment updates and what the future holds for this important patient population, there will also be a session on the psychological effects of trauma on health outcomes, and impact presentations by several people affected by SCI, with opportunities for discussion following.

People affected by SCI, caregivers and anyone interested in SCI are also invited to attend this informative conference.

Please call 306.655.8175, or go to the link provided: <https://sci-conference.eventbrite.com> for further conference information and registration.

Hosted by: SCH Rehab Nursing and the Canadian Association of Rehabilitation Nurses (CARN)

Contact: Patricia Zip/ Inpatient Rehab Clinical Nurse Educator/ 701 Queen Street, Saskatoon City Hospital/ Saskatoon SK S7K 0M7/ Phone: 306-655-8843/patricia.zip@saskhealthauthority.com